CDF Child Advocacy Experience at Alex Haley's Farm

By Dr. Mary A. Love

Hood had two students (LaTanya Pender and Frederick Cannady-Kelderman) to participate in the annual Dale Andrews Freedom Seminary and the Hall-Proctor Institute for Child Advocacy Ministry. This opportunity is sponsored by the Children's Defense Fund that brings together a broad spectrum of speakers and resources to address child/youth well-being. The gathering occurred at Alex Haley's Farm in Clinton, TN, July 15-18. This experience brings together seminary students from across the country to explore the ministry of child advocacy and to interact with experts in the field. The 2024 theme was "Unleashing the Joy." See the comments below from Hood's 2024 attendees.

Cannady is grateful for the opportunity to return to the Haley Farm for a second time. Last year, Frederick made a commitment to himself that Haley Farm would serve two purposes: (1) as intentional time for self-care and rest, and (2) as continued motivation to engage in child advocacy work. The work of child advocacy is crucial for the church's survival. By prioritizing the well-being of our younger generation, we can make lasting impacts not only on their lives but also on the lives of everyone with whom they interact. Thank you, Hood, for providing the opportunity to be part of such a life-changing experience. Frederick Cannady-Kelderman

Pender is grateful for the opportunity to reflect on the intersection of ministry, policy, and social justice for all people but especially for youth. As a young pastor, Pender learned valuable lessons on how to help youth find their voice in advocacy for themselves and others. LaTanya Pender
